

HOUSE ADOPTS ANTI-JAP LAW FORBIDDING LAND OWNERSHIP

PHOENIX, Feb. 19.—The anti-Asian land ownership bill was passed by the lower house of the Arizona legislature this afternoon. The bill had already been passed by the senate. In considering the measure, which would bar from ownership or leasing of land all aliens who could not acquire citizenship, the house considered one of nine petitions of protest signed by 109 land owners who had leased land to Japanese. On the other hand, the house also considered communications from American Legion posts disapproving the measure.

Senator Addresses House

The privilege of the floor was given by the house to Senator C. M. Stoddard, author of the bill, who recited what he declared was the experience of California, which state, he said, had been obliged to enact a bill like that now proposed in Arizona. The senator presented a mass of figures purporting to show control which he said Japanese had gained over various industries in the Pacific coast region.

Phillips Opposes Bill

Representative J. C. Phillips of Maricopa, spoke in opposition to the bill, although he said he was aware it was unpopular to oppose the wishes of the American Legion. He asserted there was no ground for a Japanese scare in Arizona and recalled that the state already had a law excluding such Asiatic land ownership. He said that the law limited lease of land to such aliens to a period of five years. Representative Phillips said conditions in Arizona were unlike those prevailing in California and asserted there were only 118 Japanese farmers in Maricopa county, the chief agricultural county of the state.

He said they were not only not in competition with American farmers, but they had given employment to more than 100 agricultural workers other than Japanese in the past year. He also said their products were such as never had been produced successfully in the west except by Japanese, and Chinese and added that these products had brought to Maricopa county more than $3,500,000. He concluded that the presence of Japanese was not a menace but was helpful.

Only 500 in State.

Representative D. P. Jones of Maricopa also spoke in opposition to the bill. He asserted there were only about 500 Japanese farmers in the state and said the number was hardly sufficient to justify alarm.

Leasing Amendment Loses

Representative Phillips then offered an amendment allowing Asiatics to lease land but reducing the limit to two years and providing that no lease could be renewed during its life. The amendment was voted down.

Old Attache Honored.

During the afternoon proceedings in the house, W. H. Gibbons, an attache, was called to take a chair in front of the speaker.

"Where were you last Thursday?" Speaker Keefe asked rather sharply. "I was in Phoenix in person," said Mr. Gibbons after some hesitation, "but by mind was not here. It was running back over a space of 50 years to the day, half a century ago, when I was married."

It then developed that the house attaches were preparing a golden wedding celebration for Mr. Gibbons and the house presented a fitting testimonial.

In the senate, on third reading was the measure prohibiting landlords having houses or rooms for rent from advertising "no children" or enforcing such a restriction. This bill had been opposed strongly, chiefly on the ground that it afforded the owner no protection against subletting. When the reading of the bill had been concluded Senator Saunders moved on amendment to protect landlords against undisciplined and destructive children. The bill was referred for the purpose of being so amended.

Senate bill No. 3, providing a penalty for officers to certify falsely to claims, passed the house by 22 to 15, following a discussion.

Give Mexicans Vote.

Senate bill No. 2, to provide against collusion in bidding on public contracts passed the house without division. House bill No. 90, a general amendment to the tax code to simplify it, passed the house 31 to 6. Substitute house bill No. 112, to qualify aged Mexicans as electors under the treaties of Guadalupe and Gadsden, passed the house by 20 to 17. These Mexicans live in Apache and Navajo counties. They have not learned English, and in consequence have never taken out naturalization papers.

House bill No. 114, which provides that reserve banks shall collect exchange on "items" passed the house without division.

Representative D. P. Jones of Maricopa, introduced house bill No. 49, to appropriate $15,000 for paving streets and sidewalks in and about the Tempe normal school.

Representative Curtis Miller of Yavapai, introduced house bill 147, to raise the pay of county school superintendents of the first class to $2700 a year and expenses. The "no children" bill of Senator Elliott of Greenlee, came up for third reading in the senate. Senator Saunders of Apache, made a motion which carried, and one bill was returned to the committee on revision. The motion, according to Senator Curtin of Mohave, would kill the effect of the bill. It amends by striking out "releasing." "That knocks the whole bill in the head," said Senator Curtin.

The "no children" bill provides a penalty of from $100 to $500 fine, three months in jail, or both, on conviction of anybody refusing to lease, sub-lease, or rent to any family with children, or advertising "no children" in newspapers, on placards or otherwise.

Joint Resolution Delayed.

Senate joint resolution No. 3 passed hurriedly to third reading this morning, and urging President Wilson to sign the emergency traffic bill for the relief of farmers, was put over until Monday. Senator W. P. Sims said the emergency measure had not been reported from conference yet and that it was certain the president would not receive it for some time and for that reason he felt the resolution should lie over for consideration.

CAMERON LEAVES FOR WASHINGTON AND INAUGURATION

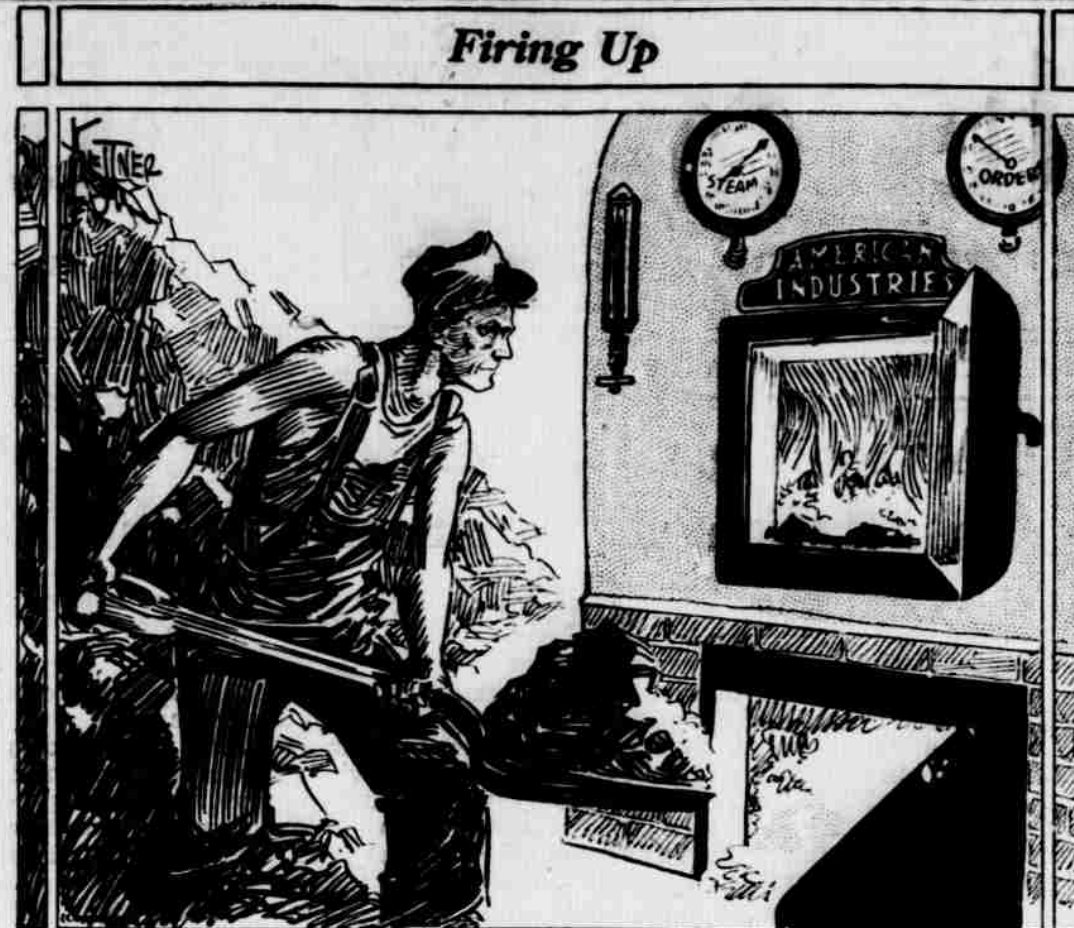

PHOENIX, Feb. 15.—Hon. Ralph H. Cameron, United States senator-elect, left last night for Las Vegas, Nev., whence he will go to Salt Lake and thence to Washington, arriving in time for the inauguration. Mrs. Cameron will follow about the first of March. Mr. Cameron said that he did not believe congress would be called in extraordinary session before March 21 and possibly not before April 4th. That was the information he gathered before he left Washington a month ago. There will be little to be gained by the assembling of congress before the senate finance committee and the house committee on ways and means have finished the general tariff and the tax readjustment bills which will have the right-of-way over all other legislation.

MEXICO BUYS

17 PASSENGER TRAINS IN U. S.

TUCSON, Feb. 16.—Close upon the purchase of 100 engines with their conveyors of freight cars by the Mexican government, from American railroads, the executive board of the Mexican National lines have announced the additional purchase of 17 passenger trains.

The contract has just been closed according to a statement issued by the board, and published in El Heraldo, a Mexico City paper.

The last purchase of rolling stock was authorized by President Obregon to bolster up the passenger service of the Mexican lines.

President Obregon had authorized the executive board to announce, according to El Heraldo, that the purchase of American engines and cars will continue until the Mexican railroads have an equipment adequate to handle its transportation problems with facility.

Simultaneously with the purchase of additional passenger trains, the Mexican government announces the purchase of three new steamships for Mexico's increasing merchant marine. The three steamers are to be placed in the passenger and freight service of the Gulf of Mexico. The steamers were bought from a New York ship-building concern, by whom they were manufactured, and have not been officially named as yet.

TRAPPER WARRING

ON TIMBER WOLVES

PHOENIX, Feb. 21.—A trapper has been ordered to the Aguas Calientes region of wage war on the pack of timber wolves, now hunting there, it was announced at the forest office this morning. Word was received from Director Musgrave of the biological survey at Phoenix that a good trapper will be sent there at once.

The wolves are said to be killing many calves and pigs in the mountains and have become a pest to the ranches. The genuine timber wolf is a rare animal in this section of the country it was said, but now and then packs of them appear and do considerable damage. This pest usually ranges farther north, but in the winter they sometimes drift south.

They are a large, fierce animal and said to be the most difficult of all wild animals to trap.

The forest officers said that many ranchers doubt that real timber wolves have appeared, but one was recently shot and tracks of several others have been found.

TOMBSTONE GIRL

MARRIED IN MIAMI.

News of the marriage of Miss Mae Elizabeth Thiel to Irwin Gauch, of Globe, has been received in Tombstone by Mrs. George Thiel, mother of the bride, and regarding the marriage the Miami Bulletin, of the 17th, said:

"Miami has at least one well based grievance against Globe. Through the lure of the county seat, and more particularly one of the inhabitants of the neighboring community, the Concentrator City last evening lost one of its most charming residents."

"A quiet ceremony celebrated in the parsonage of the Methodist church early last evening united Miss Mae Elizabeth Thiel, of Miami, and Irwin Gauch, of Globe. The wedding, which was performed by the Rev. A. J. Carpenter, was attended only by two intimate friends of the bride and groom, Dr. and Mrs. B. W. Hardy."

"Following the wedding, a dainty bridal dinner was served at the Arizona Eastern dining room, at the conclusion of which the happy couple slipped away to avoid the attentions of a score of frankly suspicious friends."

"For the present, the newlyweds are domiciled at the Murphy hotel in Globe. In the near future, however, they will take up their residence in a house which is being prepared by the groom, where they will be at home to their many friends."

"The bride is highly popular throughout the district. For some time she has occupied a responsible clerical position with the Inspiration Consolidated Copper company, and has been prominent in social activities in both Miami and Globe."

"Mr. Gauch is auditor for the Arizona and Gila Grocery stores, with headquarters in Globe. The shower of congratulations which poured in on him throughout the day as the news of the happy event leaked out, was proof of the esteem in which he is held by business associates and a wide circle of friends."

The bride is a Tombstone girl, having resided in Tombstone with her mother since childhood and up until the time she went to Miami to take a responsible position there, she occupied an important position in the court house here. She has many friends who will wish her happiness on the matrimonial sea.

BUY BLOODED BULLS.

F. S. "Fred" Bennett and Wm "Bill" Frazee, well known cattlemen of this vicinity, recently purchased several head of blooded Hereford bulls from the Fowler Bros. These bulls were shipped in by Fowler Bros., from Texas, and are thoroughbred stock. The cattlemen have added the bulls to their herds in the foothills of the Dragoons. During the selection of the bulls at the time the purchase was made, from the Fowler herd, the purchasers engaged in a little contest of "razzing" each other regarding their respective abilities to pick out the best ones. Bennett settled the argument by inviting all the cattlemen and punchers present at the time to agree as to the poorest animal in the herd. Their decision was quickly reached and unanimous, Bennett agreeing to "show 'em all up" as judges of cattle by cultivating the animal picked as the scrub by the self-styled judges, to the point that he will be classed as the best one of the bunch purchased. The other cattlemen are firm in their belief that it can't be done, and were open in their cautions that Fred can't make a bull out of what might have been a good lady cow. At any rate the outcome of the affair will be watched with interest in these parts. Those who are inclined to doubt Fred's ability aver that in case he should win he will only add another feather in his cap in the line of having the best bull.

CHARLESTON MASTODON YIELDS FEW BONES.

Excavation of the mastodon discovered at Charleston last week, by Dr. Gidley of the Smithsonian Institute yesterday, resulted in the find of only a few complete bones of the ancient animal, according to the doctor who was in Tombstone yesterday en route back to his headquarters at the Curtis Flats.

Saturday Dr. Gidley and assistants went to the location and started in their work expecting to find practically a complete skeleton from the out line in the clay bed, but after some work had been done they were rewarded with the recovery of only a few of the bones of the mastodon, including a jaw bone, a hip bone, part of a leg and part of a tusk. Most of the bones had been destroyed by the elements.

Dr. Gidley attributes this to the fact that the remains of the mastodon floated to their present location and became imbedded in the clay. He is confident from the species of the animal that it existed fully 200,000 years previous to that of the mastodon found at Curtis Flats. He believes, however, that further exploration in the vicinity of Charleston will reveal more bones.

This may be done at a later date. He will ship the bones found near Charleston to the Smithsonian along with those found at Curtis Flats, and though only few were found, the doctor is satisfied since it dates back to further periods of existence of animals in this part of the hemisphere.

INTERNATIONAL FAIR AT

NOGALES PROPOSED IN BILL

PHOENIX, Feb. 16.—The legislature today was asked to appropriate $50,000 toward a great international fair in Nogales in April, 1922 in a bill presented by Senator Schleimer of Santa Cruz. One hundred thousand dollars each was pledged by Sinaloa and Sonora, according to Schleimer for the event which is planned in commemoration of the resumption of the commercial and industrial activity between Mexico and Arizona.

A site has already been selected on the international boundary line, with the grounds half in the United States and half in Mexico, with a race course. Spanish sports and amusements on the Mexican side.

DISCUSS PLANS TO FINANCE ROAD WORK.

Following a conference between the Board of Supervisors, county attorney, the contractor and his attorney, regarding the Douglas Rodeo highway work, an agreement was reached this afternoon whereby a plan will be worked out for the continuance of the work, if possible.

Dan LaRoe, who has the contract, appeared before the board with his attorney J. P. Boyle, requesting the board's assistance and co-operation to finance the work.

State Engineer Maddock was represented by W. C. Goetz, division engineer at Douglas, and a considerable conference resulted, the gist of which was that a committee was finally formulated, consisting of Chairman J. B. Hart, of the board of supervisors, J. F. Ross, county attorney, Dan LaRoe, the contractor, and his attorney J. P. Boyle, to call on the banks of the county to finance the work of the contractor until such time as they will be reimbursed by the state.

Following this agreement appointments were made with bankers of Bisbee and Douglas to meet with the committee this evening when the matter will be discussed.

If the bankers will finance the project the committee will go to Phoenix to meet with the state engineer for his approval. Providing the banks will not finance the work a conference will be held with the state engineer in an effort to work out some other feasible plan to continue the work.

In the meantime the work is at a stand still with the contractor and the board of supervisors willing that it should continue if a proper plan can be worked out, which will be within the next three or four days, it is expected.

MARK SMITH WIRES ADVICE

ON OBTAINING HOSPITALS

Senator Marcus A. Smith has asked that Lieutenant McCarten, commander of the temporary sanitarium for ex-service men at Pastime Park, Tucson, be ordered to Washington to furnish information in regard to Tucson as a site for one of the five regional hospitals according to a letter received from the senator by the chamber of commerce yesterday.

Senator Smith wrote that he believed that in this way the real facts could be placed before the surgeon general of the public health bureau.

Secretary McPherson said that telegrams and letters to congressmen are still being sent by persons residing in Tucson and letters have been written by various business men to influential friends in other cities in Arizona and other states, asking their aid. Several encouraging answers have been received in reply to these letters.
